Firm Philosophy & Objectives

Brian Stokes is a design-oriented architect with 20 years of residential design experience. His design approach does not adhere to one specific style, but is influenced by the client's goals, along with the context and site consideration. In each project he molds the architecture to express what is meaningful.

As a sole practitioner, Brian develops a close working relationship with each client to complete their vision. He recognizes the importance of each project and gives the time and attention required to make the process of design and construction a positive experience.
